CHARLES BARRETT'S

A Foraging Party in Virginia

A humorous writer in the Sunday Mercury gives this amusing illustration of conservatism:

Upon quitting the Strawberry Festival [illegible] [illegible] to Paris, where I arrived just in time to start with Capt. Bob Shorty and a company from the [illegible] of the [illegible] Brigade on a foraging expedition. We went to look up a few straw bales for the benefit of the Anaconda cavalry horses, and three conservative Kentucky chaps went along to see that we did not violate the Constitution or the rights of man.

"It's my opinion comrade," says Captain Bob Shorty, as we started out, "it's my opinion, my [illegible], that this here [illegible] [illegible] work [illegible] every time [illegible] an awful lot [illegible] will [illegible] the constitution along [illegible] I think," says Capt. Bob Shorty, "that the constitution is as much out of place [illegible] fancy harness would be on a drove of wild buffaloes."

"Can such be the case, my boy," [illegible] "Then did our revolutionary forefathers live in vain."

Having [illegible] foraging [illegible] until about noon we stopped at the house of a First Family of Virginia who were just going to dinner. Capt. Bob Shorty ordered the [illegible] to stack arms and draw canteens in the front [illegible] and then we entered the dining hall [illegible] the [illegible] meeting in the [illegible] room.

"We [illegible]," says Bob, addressing the venerable and high-minded chivalry at the head of the table, "to ask you if you have any [illegible] straw [illegible] and could [illegible] the cavalry of the United States of America."

The chivalry only paused long enough to [illegible] and then he says:

"Are you the accursed abolitionists?"

The conservative Kentucky chap stepped hastily forward, and says he:

"No, my dear sir, we're the conservative element."

The chivalry's venerable wife, who was a female southern confederacy, leaned back a little in her chair, so that her little son could [illegible] at me, and says she:

"You an't Tribune reporters, be you?"

We were all noes and nays. "Quite a feature in social intercourse, my boy."

[illegible] chivalry caused three fresh chairs [illegible] at the table, and having failed [illegible] the fowling piece which he had [illegible] at Captain Bob Shorty, by reason of dampness in the cap, he waved us to seats, and says he:

"Sit down poor hirelings of a gorilla despot, and learn what it is to taste the hospitality of a southern gentleman. You are Lincoln [illegible]," says the chivalry, shaking his white locks, "and have come to burn the southern confederacy—but the southern gentleman knows how to be courteous, even to a vandal foe."

Here the chivalry switched out a cane which he had concealed behind him, and made a blow at Captain Bob Shorty.

"[illegible]," says Bob, indignantly, "I'll [illegible]—"

"Hush," says the conservative Kentucky chap, agitatedly, "don't irritate the old patriarch, or the future amicable reconstruction of the Union will be out of the question. He is naturally a little provoked just now," says the Kentucky chap soothingly, "but we must show him that we are his friends."

We all sat down in peace at the hospitable board; and [illegible] only a few sweet potatoes and corn cobs [illegible] thrown by the children, and I found the fare to be in keeping with the situation of our distracted country—I may say, war fare.

"In consequence of the blockade of the Washington [illegible]," says the chivalry, pleasantly, "we only live on, of course, you see; but you [illegible] sweet potatoes must be luxuries to [illegible] mudsills accustomed to [illegible]."

I [illegible] at my [illegible] to help [illegible] when there came a great noise [illegible] the [illegible] front [illegible] yard.

"What's that?" says Captain Bob Shorty.

"[illegible]," says the [illegible], "only [illegible] servants to throw some hot water on your [illegible] hirelings."

As Captain Bob Shorty turned to thank her for her explanation and while his plate was [illegible] helped, the aged chivalry fired a pistol at him across the table, the ball just [illegible] his head and entering the wall behind him.

"By all that's blue!" says Captain Bob Shorty, [illegible] "now I'll be—"

"Be calm now—be calm," says the conservative Kentucky chap, hastily, "don't I tell you that it's natural for the good old soul to be a little provoked? If you go to irritate him you can never live together as brethren again."

Matters being thus rendered pleasant, my boy, we quickly finished the simple meal, and as Captain Bob Shorty wielded all the carving knife just [illegible] the chivalry [illegible] turned [illegible] the female confederacy [illegible]

"Many thanks for your kind hospitality [illegible]"

The Virginia matron threw the vinegar [illegible]

"My servants have already given one to [illegible], you nasty Yankee."

"Of course," says the venerable chivalry, [illegible] a blow at me with a bowie knife, "[illegible] your despicable government will pay me for my property."

"[illegible]," says Captain Bob Shorty, hotly, "[illegible]"

"Certainly it will, my friend," broke in the conservative Kentucky chap, eagerly. "The Union troops come here as your friends, for they make war on none but traitors."

As we left the domicil, my boy, brushing from our coats the slops that had just been thrown upon us from an upper window, I saw the chivalry's children tearing a fowling piece from the roof and hoisting the flag of the southern confederacy on one of the chimneys.

And will it be possible to regain the love of the [illegible] people again, my boy, if we treat them unconstitutionally? We shall see, my boy—we shall see.

The [illegible] contracted cotton and tobacco in New York, on account of Government, amounted on the 9th and 10th of July to the large sum of $600,000.

FINANCIAL ABILITY OF THE NATION TO SUSTAIN THE WAR.—On this subject the Herald and [illegible] says:

"The financiers estimate that the revenue to be derived from property in the United States amounts to about twelve hundred millions per annum. This income is to be subjected to a tax of $150,000,000, or about one tenth part, [illegible] interest and liquidation of the national debt. Now were it in anticipation that the war is to be conducted after the old European fashion and to last a quarter of a century, our expenditures might give rise to apprehensions that the war could not be sustained; but as we all well know that a prolonged struggle of [illegible] years on its present scale is a physical impossibility, the above figures will not to the reflecting mind appear large. Indeed, [illegible] that the whole amount is immediately returned to the people, no one can doubt that for a considerable period of years the people might bear double the burden of taxation. In some countries," says a commercial writer, "the expenses of religious houses, under the immediate care of the government, exceed two hundred millions of dollars." The poor Hindoos [illegible] taxed to a larger amount than [illegible] religious purposes.

Suppose the United States should be engaged in this war for a term of five years, and should be involved in a debt of $5,000,000,000, which is by the way a most extravagant calculation, we should still be in infinitely better condition from a taxation point of view than that in which England finds herself. Without imposing a dollar of extra taxation we should be able to pay off the interest and the principal of the national debt within thirty years, while England gave up as far back as half a century ago all idea of ever being able to liquidate the debt she has contracted in carrying on her wars. Again, the ratio of progress in population and wealth is twenty five per cent greater in the United States than it is in England, and we may easily [illegible] that in a quarter of a century hence a debt of ten thousand millions would be but a trifling burden for the incalculable power, wide spreading commerce and indomitable industry of our people.

SATURDAY MORNING AUG 23 1862

Carrion Crows

The secesh fault finders and distrustful prophesiers, who are continually predicting difficulties not to say disasters to the Union cause—disappointments and failures to its friends and supporters in the great struggle that is now pending for the safety, preservation, honor and perpetuity of our national independence, that class of suspicious half buzzard, half cannibal, charlatanical sympathizers with treason, remind us of an anecdote we once heard related of a minister addressing his hearers relative to a similar class of individuals who were continually on the watch to pick flaws and comment upon the short-comings and improper conduct of backsliding professors of Christianity in which the minister forcibly illustrated his idea by comparing them to carrion crows, commonly seen hovering around doubtful cases among bands of cattle or other animals which may happen to be in distress. The minister stated that while traveling along the road he came among a large band of fine appearing, sleek and well fed cattle, all in excellent condition, peaceably and quietly feeding upon their abundant supply of green pasture, with nothing to annoy or molest their happy hours not a wolf, not a crow, not a foul bird or preying beast of any kind was visible. But upon going a short distance further, he beheld a poor unfortunate calf mired down in a mud hole, close upon the road side, while upon almost every limb, bush and tree, there sat a great flock of these carrion crows, all caw, cawing, jumping, hopping and sporting about, apparently in great glee, and gloating over the prospect of soon feasting their hungry craws upon the carcass of that poor calf.

So it is with that class of foul men illustrated above. Whenever there is peace, plenty and general good order in the community in which they live;—whenever society, either social, religious or political is in good condition, quiet and free, they never show themselves upon the street corners or public places, but let the least disturbance take place, if but one poor unfortunate calf gets mired in the mud, then they begin to set up their "caw, cawing," clap their hands, smack their chops, frisk and dance around and exultingly proclaim their longing desires to feast upon the downfall and adversity of their poor but honest fellow mortal. And just so it is with the secesh sympathizers and traitorous hawks of rebellion occasionally seen in this country. So long as there is a prospect for the success of the Federal arms in the mighty struggle now waging for the life and safety of the nation, these carrion crows are not seen or heard, but let the least adverse news come from the seat of war, then they can be seen and heard upon every street and corner, "caw cawing," while their filthy sheets send out the same disgusting guttural sounds, proclaiming their hungry desire to feast upon the downfall of the Union and the ruin of all its glorious institutions.

Reader,—mark the idea, and see if what we say is not so. Watch when the next bad news comes and see how many of these crows you can count around town. You need not look for them if the news is good. They only appear in foul weather, or when distress is likely to come upon the nation. Their presence is only noted upon occasions of misfortune or prospective calamity. But thanks to an overruling Providence, whose kindness has protected and upheld this glorious Union of States and whose wisdom has directed and controlled the destiny of our National Independence and unparalled prosperity these unclean birds have had but little to feast their insatiate defiled craws upon, and we have full confidence that the day is not far distant when the nation will be relieved from its present embarrassment and stand erect in gigantic strength, a terror to traitors and deceitful prophesiers—when all such filthy, deformed and evil birds will be frightened back to the regions of the damned from whence they originated.

FROM THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—The following items are from the Mountaineer of the 22d.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER.—Thomas A. Sperry a bricklayer was shot and dangerously wounded at Walla Walla a few days since. His assailant a man named Wilson is reported to have approached him and asked him for work which being refused he immediately drew his pistol and fired, inflicting a dangerous wound. The injured man has a wife and several children living at Vancouver.

SAFE.—The steamer Tenino reached the DesChutes yesterday afternoon in safety. She came down in company with the Okanagan, and is found to be less damaged than was supposed.

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS.—Mr Sammist, photographic artist, visited our office yesterday and showed us a number of very fine stereoscopic views of Lewiston and the junction of Clearwater and Snake rivers and other localities including a "bird's eye view," quite amusing for boys to look at, all of which were well executed and interesting sights.—Mr Sammist will probably remain in the city for a short time thus affording an opportunity for all to enjoy the sight and obtain a picture of themselves or "any other man."

Garibaldi in the Field

The Masons and Slidells who have waited so long and intrigued so persistently for foreign intervention in the American quarrel have received their final answer from an unexpected quarter. It is the rocky hermitage of Caprera, the man who is not to be seduced or overawed by despotism—who carries with him the heart of Italy and the sympathies of all oppressed nationalities—the most noble General of volunteers who can make untrained levies fight like veteran soldiers, [illegible] the Emperor of the French and summons the [illegible] has quietly organized all over Italy those able around his standard in Sicily. His war cry is "Rome or death!" That cry is echoed by the Italian people and Victor Emmanuel though he accepts as a Prime Minister Rattazzi the chosen instrument of the Tuileries is known to be in full sympathy with the nation. Although it is the ultimate purpose of Garibaldi to restore Rome to its true position as the Capital of Italy it is not positively known whether the expedition he is organizing is intended for the Tiber or the Adriatic. Venice, also, is needed to complete the unity of Italy and thirty thousand of her exiled children have implored the indomitable liberator to give freedom to their beloved and beautiful city. At Venice, Garibaldi will meet Austria, at Rome France. The odds are appalling. The movement is a bold challenge to two of the most powerful empires in Europe either of which considers itself more than a match for United Italy. But an alliance between France and Austria is [illegible] regarded as among the probabilities, and could not be effected without drawing Russia, Prussia, and other Powers into the vortex of war.

Our interest in this movement is vital. Taking advantage of a lull in Europe and dissension in America the French Emperor has manifested a design to push a scheme of conquest on this continent—to gain a military foothold in Mexico, and to play the magnificent role of arbiter of American destinies. Already an army has sailed for Vera Cruz and a formidable fleet has been concentrated in the Gulf of Mexico. Already, have the "rebels against the best interests of mankind" in our Southern States, professed a willingness to accept a French protectorate and become a French colony rather than return to their rightful allegiance. But the impending movement of Garibaldi will give all European powers ample employment upon their own continent. They will cease to dwell upon the civil war in America with such painful anxiety. Battles, sieges, and the fortune of war nearer home will engage their attention if not furnish occupation for their huge standing armies. The question of self government will be presented in a new and formidable shape. And the grand result as far as we are concerned will be that we shall be left to deal with our domestic foes according to our own ideas of right and justice. Garibaldi simply designs to serve his own nationality we suppose, but his taking the field at this juncture of affairs cannot fail to be of vital service to the great republic which once afforded him a refuge from oppression. While he throws down the gauntlet to the French masters of Rome, he spikes the rebel gun of foreign intervention in our behalf.—Sacramento Union

REPORTED STRATEGIC MOVEMENTS.—New York, August 14th.—The Fortress Monroe correspondent of the Tribune states that it is believed that the great body of the army of the Potomac is about to be withdrawn down the Peninsula while the remainder will reembark on transports down the river. That this is the plan now in process of execution is the current impression and the result of the last information to be had is that if successfully carried out it will prove a great disappointment and perplexity to the rebels, and the restoration of the Army of the Potomac to a position of activity and usefulness.

GENERAL POPE'S LINE.—The Times' Washington correspondent says General Pope is pushing forward. Sigel and McDowell are understood to have crossed the Rapidan, and to be at Orange Court House. The rebels have been expected to make a stand there but now it seems probable that our troops will meet no opposition this side of Gordonsville. Jackson is supposed to be making every preparation for defending that, as a vital point. Some apprehension is expressed that the rebel General Stewart, now with Jackson, may make an attempt to carry out one of his Richmond exploits of a cavalry dash around the rear of our army with the view of breaking our line of communications. The bridge across the Rappahannock is the only point supposed to be in danger from such a movement. Measures have been taken to foil any attempt of the kind.

CULPEPPER VA., August 11th.—In an interview with some returned prisoners to-day they stated that the enemy generally treated them kindly. They state that the scene of the field of the late battle (which is called the battle of Cedar Mountain) was a sight never to be forgotten. For nearly a mile the dead lay scattered or in heaps. At the front where Crawford's Brigade twice dashed on the enemies batteries, the sight was fearful. The rebel General Charles Winder and Major Andrews of Ewell's staff were mortally wounded. It is now estimated that our wounded will reach twelve hundred.

CHICAGO, August 1[illegible]th.—Washington correspondents continue to assert that one of the most important military movements which has been made since the war commenced is now in progress but not yet sufficiently consummated to permit of its publicity. It is regarded as a most masterly stroke and one which cannot but result in the speedy downfall of Richmond.

GEN. HALLECK'S GRAND ARMY.—Since Gen Halleck excluded newspaper correspondents from his lines at Corinth for fear they might criticise too freely, and thus afford aid and comfort to the enemy the greatest mystery has hung over his movements as well as those of Beauregard's army. From various sources however we learn that Buell's forces are making their way into East Tennessee for the purpose of securing the important railroad connections at Chattanooga and driving the rebels out of Northern Georgia and East Tennessee. The second grand division is placed under Gen Grant whose headquarters are at Memphis, and will operate in West Tennessee and Arkansas and down the Mississippi until navigation is fully opened to New Orleans.—Pope's division (now under General Thomas,) has its headquarters at Corinth, and will operate along the railroads of that section of country in Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi. It seems not to be intended to advance any part of the army into the interior of Mississippi or Alabama until the sickly season is over but to employ the troops in repairing and guarding railroads, opening new channels of supplies and making ready for the fall campaign. However when Vicksburg is taken the lines of the army may be extended farther south. Jackson, the capital of Mississippi, can then easily be occupied, if desirable.—Such being the present disposition of the Western troops for the summer months the question arises, what is to prevent sending thirty or forty regiments to reinforce Gen Pope, in the valley of the Shenandoah? If he had those troops now he would quickly settle the Richmond question.—Cor. Alta

Details of the Battle of Cedar Mountain—Official Report of Gen Pope—Rebels shot for violating parole—Affairs in Tennessee

NEW YORK, Aug 15. Culpepper Va., August 1[illegible]. Gen Buford reports to Gen Pope that he pursued the rebels under Jackson to the Rapidan river, which was so swollen that it could not be crossed by his cavalry and artillery. Numerous indications showed that the flight had been [illegible] and precipitous.

The following is the substance of Pope's official report of the battle of Cedar Mountain. Saturday evening, [illegible] crossed the Rapidan in force and Thursday [illegible] Orange Court House. Our forces were on the turnpike between Culpepper and Sperryville [illegible] to concentrate at [illegible] enemy's plans might be developed. Early Friday morning it became apparent that the enemy [illegible] Madison Court House [illegible] Sigel's corps at Sperryville and the main attack would be made at Culpepper. On Friday Banks and Sigel's forces [illegible] division of McDowell's were concentrated at that place, Banks' force being pushed forward [illegible] and Sigel's remaining five miles in the rear.

Saturday the enemy advanced rapidly to Cedar Mountain, the sides of which he occupied in force. The enemy's artillery opened in the afternoon but we did not advance till nearly 5 o'clock, at which time a few skirmishers were thrown forward by each side under cover of the heavy wood in which his force was concealed. The enemy pushed forward a heavy force as skirmishers and Gen Banks advanced to attack. The engagement did not open until six o'clock and for an hour and a half was furious. [illegible] firing of cannonading which was at first desultory and directed at [illegible]. I had continued to receive reports from Banks but no attack was apprehended, as no considerable force of the enemy had come forward. Towards evening, the incessant artillery firing had satisfied us the engagement we had to fight would be hard [illegible] I ordered McDowell to advance the pickets of his division to the support of Banks and directed Sigel to bring his men on the ground as soon as possible.

I arrived on the field at 7 o'clock, and found the action raging furiously. The infantry fire was incessant and severe. I found Banks holding the position he took up early in the morning, though his loss was heavy. Ricketts's division immediately [illegible] and occupied a position on the right of Banks. Gordon's division was directed to form and mass themselves in the [illegible] could be effected it was dark, though artillery continued firing at short range with [illegible] intermission. Artillery firing all night by the 2d Maine battery was very destructive as was seen in the morning in dead [illegible] and broken carriages of the enemy's battery, which had been advanced against it. Our troops rested on their arms during the night in line of battle, heavy shelling being kept up on both sides until midnight. At daylight next morning the enemy fell back two miles from our front and higher up in the mountain. Our pickets were at once advanced and occupied the ground.

The fatigue of the troops from long marches, and the excessive heat, made it impossible for either side to resume action on Friday—The men were allowed rest the whole day—The only action being that of cavalry on the enemy's flank and rear.

Monday was spent in the burying of dead and the getting off wounded. The slaughter was severe on both sides. The fight being hand to hand, the dead of both armies was found together in masses over the whole of the ground of conflict. The burying of the dead was not completed till dark on Monday, the heat being so terrible that more severe work was impossible. On Monday night the enemy fled from the field leaving many of their dead unburied, and wounded on the ground.

The Quincy Herald says 26 rebel prisoners were shot at Macon City, (Mo.), Saturday for breaking parole. On Monday 12 others will be shot at the same place.

WASHINGTON, Aug 14.—Those who ought to know, deny that any change of McClellan's army from the Peninsula has occurred and say he is still at his head quarters with command.

MEMPHIS, Aug 15.—Information has been received from the South east, (Tenn.) but not considered reliable that a movement is being made against Buel.

Beauregard is reported to be at Chattanooga county, operating with Bragg. Their forces are not less than 70,000 men.

From Cumberland Gap, it is stated, a battle commenced on the 9th, at Carwell, seven miles from there between Confederate forces under Stevenson numbering from 12,000 to 15,000. The Federals numbering 5,000. A movement was made by Stevenson in front while Burtain gained the rear by forced marches and surrounded the Federals. A desperate fight of four hours ensued and the Federals were overpowered by superior numbers.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the Franklin Book Store, and at Charles Barrett's, Front street.

DEAD.—Poor, unfortunate "Nims," whose real name is, we believe, S. F. Whitman, who came to this city about a year ago from [illegible] yard, and had made himself generally [illegible] in the way of "bill posting" and peddling papers for the OREGONIAN and Times, died yesterday morning at the Hospital across the river, after several days of intense suffering and extreme agony. Poor fellow, he is gone, and although he had his faults like [illegible] young men of the country, (and [illegible] too,) we believe he will be long remembered by many in this city as a harmless, inoffensive and quiet young man, only doing himself more injury than any one else. The members of the several Fire Companies will attend his funeral to-day at 2 o'clock and bury their brother member with [illegible] rites.

FLATTERY.—That "Urbane individual," so feelingly alluded to in the Editorial correspondence of last evening's Advertiser, fully appreciates the compliment, but would respectfully [illegible] that "too much of a good thing [illegible] the broth." Such particular notices make him blush, being, as you know, a bashful [illegible] and not accustomed to such popularity. Had he a champagne basket he would send it after that Editor, with a particular request to don't!—please don't!

ARRIVED.—The Julia arrived yesterday [illegible] from the Dalles with a goodly number of passengers, but brought no later news and but little dust. We again have to thank Wells, Fargo & Co. for a copy of the Daily [illegible] and other favors. This Express Company is decidedly an important institution, and the kindness and gentlemanly courtesy extended to us by the several attachees at [illegible] in this city is duly appreciated.

ARRIVAL OF THE MARIA.—The steamer Maria arrived last evening a few minutes after [illegible] from the Cascades, bringing down [illegible] passengers and considerable dust in [illegible]. We heard of no later news of [illegible] from above by her. A heavy rain fell at the Cascades yesterday [illegible] quite refreshing and cooling. Passengers on the Maria speak in great praise of the [illegible] decent and excellent fare furnished [illegible] gentlemanly and accommodating [illegible].

[illegible]—There was a "right smart sprinkle" [illegible] fell yesterday, which helped to lay [illegible] in the streets and cool the atmosphere.

AN ORDINANCE amendatory to Ordinance No. 10.

The people of the City of Portland do ordain as follows:

SECT. 1. That section 1st of said Ordinance No. 10 be, and is hereby amended by [illegible] the word "twenty" for the word [illegible] where it occurs in said Section.

SEC. 2. That this Ordinance take effect and be in force from and after its approval by the [illegible].

Passed the Common Council August 20th, 1862.

Attest: H. BOYD, Clerk.

Approved August 21st, 1862.

[illegible] McCOY, Acting Mayor.

[illegible]—Members of "Columbia [illegible] Co., No. 3," are particularly requested [illegible] at their Engine House to-day, at [illegible] 2 p. m., precisely, to attend the funeral of [illegible] Whitman, a deceased member of the company.

By order of the Foreman.

[illegible] invitation is extended to the Fire [illegible] of the city.

[illegible] Co.—Members are requested to [illegible] Hall at 2½ o'clock this afternoon [illegible] funeral of a brother fireman.

By order of the Foreman.

AMERICA, No. 4.—Members of "America, No. 4," are requested to [illegible] Engine Room to-day, at half [illegible] P. M., in full uniform, to attend the funeral of a late member of the Fire [illegible].

By order of the Foreman.

[illegible] The Markets.

[illegible] quotations this week are not [illegible] changed from last, except in the [illegible] syrup, which has gone up at a rapid [illegible] the last several days. We note last [illegible] East Boston, at 85 to 90 cents by the [illegible] a prospect of still greater advance [illegible] the firm, and none coming in. All [illegible] above has arrived, and no more will [illegible] until the rise in the river. We [illegible] sale of 150 barrels yesterday at fair [illegible]. Butter, fresh, is slightly declining, [illegible] considerable quantity is daily brought in [illegible]. Green fruit is rapidly coming [illegible] prices going down. Trade is still quite [illegible] though reviving somewhat, and inquiries [illegible] from above with prospect of lively [illegible] for fall and winter supplies. We [illegible] added to our list this week the prices of [illegible] and domestics, which are worthy of [illegible]

THE WASHINGTON STATESMAN,
A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER,
Published at Walla Walla, W. T.,
BY N. NORTHROP AND R. R. REES.

Terms Invariably in Advance.

One year — $5 00
Six Months
Three Months

THE STATESMAN has reliable correspondents in all the mining regions of Oregon and Washington Territory—Powder River, Salmon River, Oro Fino, Colville, and the Bitter Root and Deer Lodge Valleys, and its facilities for obtaining news from these localities, both through its correspondents and the expresses running from Walla Walla to these points, are superior to those of any other paper published in Oregon or Washington Territory.

The paper is the same size as the Weekly Oregonian, and its large circulation in all the mining regions above mentioned renders it, to merchants and others, an excellent advertising medium.

Value and Uses of Leached Ashes.

The Wisconsin Farmer says

For crops which require a large percentage of potash and soda, such as beans, peas, potatoes, Indian corn, grapes, &c, the effects of unleached ashes are more marked and immediate Still, leached ashes contain large proportions of the insoluble constituents which, though not so prompt and stimulating in their action, are nevertheless just as really necessary to the growth of plants, while their influence is more permanent

In all parts of the world where anything like a system of agriculture exists—where the farmer is not brim full of the notion that his soils are inexhaustible—ashes of all kinds, particularly ashes of wood, even though deprived of a greater part of their alkalies by the process of leaching, are esteemed of great value, and carefully preserved

The value will, of course, be determined somewhat by the kind of wood from which the ashes are derived

But then the wood of any plant or vegetable will yield ashes capable of contributing to the growth of any of the crops grown by the farmer.

Clay lands are most benefitted, but very light sandy soils are largely improved by them—especially if organic manures, (muck, barnyard manures, &c,) be also applied Gravelly loams would undoubtedly derive advantage from their application The quantity per acre will, of course, be determined by a variety of circumstances, such as character of soil, kind of crop, expense of application, &c Fifty to a hundred bushels might be considered a liberal quantity.

The kind of crop which should immediately follow is not important, as the effect of leached ashes are quite permanent

Upon grass lands they may be used with benefit as a top dressing Secretary Flint, of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, in his excellent work on "Grasses and Forage Plants," remarks as follows

"Grasses are often more benefitted by ashes than other crops, since they require a greater amount of the salts which ashes contain. For all permanent mowing lands, especially on the lighter soils, ashes are among the cheapest of manures, where they can be had in sufficient quantities. In parts of Flanders and Belgium, countries in which the science of agriculture has been carried to a high perfection, the great loss of inorganic matters from the soil is constantly restored by ashes or bones. * * * According to Liebig, with every one hundred and ten pounds of leached ashes of the common beech-tree, spread upon the soil, we furnish as much phosphate as five hundred and seven pounds of the richest manures could yield Now phosphates are useful to all kinds of soil.

"Those who have tried leached ashes have been fully satisfied of their superior quality as a fertilizer. Careful experiments, by practical, conservative men, show that land producing one ton to the acre has been so improved by this means as to yield three tons to the acre. Where thirty bushels were used on three-fourths of an acre, in one instance, the crop was increased more than three-fold. Nor are leached ashes subject to the objections which are raised by some against the use of lime. They do not apparently exhaust the soil. Their effect is felt for several years. Many farmers have found, by experience, that one bushel of unleached hard-wood ashes is nearly equal to two bushels of plaster, as a top-dressing for the dried grass lands. If this be true, what has been said, would show that leached ashes are about equal to plaster in their effects on such lands."

From the Oregon Farmer

To those who sometimes harbor the idea that thorough bred merinos can be bought in Vermont for $10 per head, we commend the following from a late number of the California Farmer. All false lowering ideas and statements, as to the value of blood-stock in the East, has a pernicious tendency, calculated to mislead and discourage our enterprising citizens in their laudable efforts to improve their herds and flocks, and build up and enhance the materal interest of our State. Blood stock has for the last forty years commanded round figures in Europe and the United States, and it seems that now the partial dethronement of King Cotton gives it an upward tendency. Discriminating prices will long rule between Bloods and Scrubs —[Ed.

Prices of Sheep in the East.

While we are called upon to note the depressed value of sheep, both blood stock and common kinds in our own State, we are also called upon to notice the remarkable demand and high price of merino sheep and stock of all kinds, in the old States The Middlebury, Vermont Register states that here was recently sold in that town by Henry Hammond, a buck lamb, 11 months old, for $600, to Samuel McFarland, of Washington County, Pa This lamb was said to be one of the best in the State, and we are not disposed to question it Rams were selling from 500 to $1,000 each, and Ewes from 60 to $300 each There is a great sheep excitement, and the cause seems to be the great demand for fine wool which is now being used in place of cotton, hence there is a great demand for fine sheep We are informed that one of the largest wool dealers in New York, Samuel Lawrence, Esq., gives his opinion that it will take from five to ten years to get back to the former production of cotton, or to give the mills a full supply, that the fine wool will be high for some time to come The demand for "Muslin de Lanes," and other light woolen articles, will be largely increased, to be applied where cotton goods were formerly used

This is good news for California, and to this point we ask our wool growers, those who have fine wool, if they had not better ship their fine wool than sell it here? Go by all means and carefully consult those who are familiar with the Eastern Wool Market, and will offer facilities for shipping Your interest is in it

Discovery in Locomotion —A new discovery in locomotion has been made in France and it is considered to be of so much importance that a commission has been appointed by the Emperor to examine and report upon it M Girard has constructed the model of a railway adapted for runners like those of a sledge The runners move in a sort of clog between this and the rails water is introduced and thus almost all friction is avoided —Should this plan prove successful on a large scale, much wear and tear, not only of the carriages but of the passengers nerves will be saved How delightful it will be to slide smoothly over a surface of water instead of having one's bones dislocated by being rattled over uneven rails and one's head stupefied by the perpetual clatter

Never Say Dye Nature never makes a mistake in color The contrast seen in trees, grasses, waters, sunsets and faces, are all correctly based The hair of a man's head is always of the shade that best becomes his complexion. A young and blooming face can bear the contrast of dark locks an aged face is beautified by grey hair, and looks ghastly with black The same is true of the beard Hence a dyed mustache is an offense against good taste, as well as truth Un naturally the moustache is just the color which best accords with the eyes and complexion

Port Crayon (Lieut Strother) is an ardent loyalist, serves on Gen Banks' staff, and believes Virginia will be greater and better after the war than she ever was before

☞ Ladies who have a disposition to punish their husbands, should recollect that a little warm sunshine will melt an icicle much sooner than a regular north easter

Of all diseases the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws

To the Afflicted

Suffer not when a cure can be guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases Self Abuse, Nervous Debility Syphilis in all its stages, Stricture Gleet Gravel Diabetes Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder Mercurial Rheumatism Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles diseases of the Lungs, Throat Nose and Eyes Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St Vitus Dance and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling Loss of Memory Loss of Power, General Weakness Dimness of Vision with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes Loss of Sight Wakefulness Dyspepsia, Liver Disease Eruptions upon the Face Pain in the Back and Head Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes It matters not from what cause the disease originated however long standing or obstinate the case recovery is certain and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians and resisted all their means of cure The medicines are pleasant without odor causing no sickness and free from mercury or balsam During fifteen years of practice in Europe the Atlantic States and California I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases had been given up to die by their physicians which warrants me in promising to the afflicted who may place themselves under my care a speedy and permanent cure Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health as they are the first cause of consumption scrofula and many other diseases and should be a terror to the human family A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected —a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons who not only fail to cure the disease but ruin the constitution filling the system with mercury which with the disease hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily and the victim marries the disease is entailed upon the children who are born with feeble constitutions and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin eyes throat and lungs entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering and consigning them to an early grave

Self abuse is another formidable enemy to health for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave It destroys the nervous system rapidly wastes away the energies of life causes mental derangement prevents the proper development of the system disqualifies for marriage society business and all earthly happiness and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected and with the abandonment of ruinous practices my patients can be restored to robust vigorous health

Irregularities and all diseases of females treated on the principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures — Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the State of Oregon and Washington Territory by patients communicating their symptoms by letter

All business correspondence strictly confidential Address DR L J CZAPKAY Medical Institute Sacramento street below Montgomery opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co's Office, San Francisco

entirely and my [illegible] thought you would be able to cure me [illegible] thought I might be able to do something to cost the pain in my back [illegible] and strengthen my [illegible] I would not get excited and troubled about everything Now that you know what I expected you may judge how glad I am at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of these round blotches from my skin [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which you said were principally the consequences of [illegible] I can hardly tell you which is the greatest joy of my surgeon for except not having fully got my strength I feel as well as any man can feel

I feel [illegible] twenty dollars over your charge and think myself cheaply cured If you think anybody will be benefitted by it you can put this letter in the newspapers Respectfully yours

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

Certificate I prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which not only commends itself as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also About two years ago I suddenly and from causes unknown to me was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment and the discouragement of which I met with on attempting it soon became so bad [illegible] as to defy the skill of any physician I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground and without the slightest warning and still upheld me to the agonies, I yet have feared the infection of my life and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance to shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries, While in this state and having previous to my affliction heard of the success of Dr Czapkay in [illegible] I was induced to attempt seeking and applied him and by recommendation, called upon Dr L J Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services regardless of which however he at once undertook my case and with the blessing of God I was in a short time restored to perfect health Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present and yet unable of my indebtedness, I consider it due to him and all afflicted to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed
